PLOTS AND PLANS;
OR
JULIA GLENNS' ELOPEMENT.

A cheerful little summer room, with lozenge paned casements, shaded with white muslin curtains, and dim with the overhanging foliage of morning-glories—this is our Scene First. There was a cottage piano in the room, and on a round wicker table beyond, lay a broad vine-leaf, full of fragrant, freshly-gathered strawberries, with a blue ribboned "gipsy" hat close beside it, and a tuft of clover heads and buttercups betokening a woodland ramble somewhere. And you wouldn't have needed to look twice to assure yourself that the coquettish gipsy hat belonged to none other than a blooming young lady who was leaning against the window casing, assiduously engaged in twisting a small glove round and round her finger. She was just one of those trim, dimpled, bright-eyed little creatures whom you prefer, as far as real life is concerned, to all the impossibly beautifull damsels of novel lore; a girl, in short, towards whose pretty waist your arm felt an instinctive curving inclination, and whose lips reminded you of a scarlet verbina with the dew on it.

And how that fat, bald headed old gentleman, her father, could have the heart to scold her, as petulantly as he was certainly doing, was among the inscrutables! These fathers are so little susceptible to their daughters' graces!

"A pretty idea!" said the old gentleman, the bald spot on the crown of his head growing perfectly pink with indignation. "In love indeed! What business had you to fall in love withot my permission? Never heard of such a preposterous affair in my life! Haven't I always told you that Job Jefferson was to be your husband?"

"But, papa!" interrupted the young lady, half crying, half laughing, "Job Jefferson is forty years old, and wears a wig!"

"What then, Miss Minx? Isn't he just as good? You ought to be very grateful that a man worth thirty thousand dollars has been kind enough to take a fancy to you"

"I'm not a bit grateful?" pouted Julia Glenn, giving the little glove an unmerciful twitch.

"Never saw such an improper state of mind in my born days!" ejaculated Mr Glenn, holding up both his hands. "Now look here, young lady, do you suppose it is right for you to be holding stolen interviews with Arthur Latimer, over the raspberry hedge, at the foot of the garden, evenings, after you suppose I'm snug in bed, hey?"

"But, papa——"

"I know what you're going to say—you fancy you are in love with him! Bah, nonsense! I'd like to see Job Jefferson tearing his respectable pepper and salt trowsers among the raspberry briars!"

"So should I!" observed Julia, with an almost irresistible inclination to laugh.

"No disrespect, young woman! He's not the fellow for such silly nonsense. Now, I tell you what—I'll have no more of this! One week from to day you shall marry Job Jefferson! No use in your thinking you are going to throw yourself away on a briefless lawyer like Arthur Latimer! So get the wedding rig ready just as soon as you please."

Julia tried to remonstrate, but old Mr. Glenn obstinately refused to hear a word, and bustled out of the room in as inflamatory a state as a box of lucifer matches.

"I don't care!" sobbed Miss Julia; "sooner than marry Job Jefferson, I will drown myself in the river! I wonder what Arthur will say."

If Arthur could but have seen the rosy shadow that flitted across her cheek as she pronounced his name—well, it wouldn't have mattered much, after all, for he couldn't have been deeper in love than he was already!

As Mr. Glenn trotted explosively out of the room he tumbled up against a solid specimen of masculine humanity—no other than Jotham, the coachman, gardener and factotum in general—who sustained the shok with great composure.

"What are you here for, blockhead?" demanded Mr Glenn, furiously.

"Come to bring up this here dish of strawberries," coolly returned Jotham, who was used to his master's adjectives, and minded them as little as he would a musquito.

"Where did they come from, stupid?"

Jotham uttered a short chuckle.

"Miss Keturah Jones sent 'em—the old maid next door—with her compliments to Squire Glenn."

"Hang the plagued old maid! I wish she would keep her strawberries and compliments to herself!"

"Shall I tell her so?" stolidly questioned Jotham

No, you fool! The only way to keep her from marrying me in spite of myself, is to put up a stone wall higher than Haman's gallows!"

"I will mention it to her, sir," said Jotham, turning away.

"Stop, blunderhead! you'll do no such thing. Throw the confounded berries into the street."

"Yes, sir Only I wan't," soliloquized Jotham, when he was beyond earshot. "I'll give 'em to Nancy Cook, and we'll have a strawberry shortcake—darned if we don't!"

"What did he say, Jotham?" sighed Miss Keturah over the garden fence. when, rather more than half an hour subsequently, Jotham sallied forth to pull radishes for dinner.

"Said he was much obleeged, marm."

"Anything else? Jotham?"

"Something about gettin' married, marm."

"Dear—how very strange, Jotham! What could he have meant?" giggled the elderly damsel, giving her artificial curls a toss.

"Dunno, marm!"

"Jotham, here's a quarter for you. It was so kind of you to drive the pigs out of my garden yesterday!"

"Thank 'ee, marm!" said Jotham, grinning broadly, as Miss Keturah tripped into the house.

"Ah—h—ha—a!" said Mr. Glenn. "Sorry your apron pockets aren't a little more reliable, Miss Julia. Didn't suppose this note was going to fall into your old father's hands, did you?"

Mr. Glenn adjusted his spectacles, and read the folded paper in his hand yet a second time, muttering to himself:

"This evening at eight—under the beech tree just beyond the garden wall—yet succeed to evade the vigilance of heartless parent!" Ah—ha! Will you, Mr Arthur? We'll see about that! Perhaps there'll be a third party in this interesting elopement!"

And Mr. Glenn fell into a fit of chuckling that lasted full a minute and a half. As he turned round at its conclusion, he saw Jotham standing in the doorway, looking rather more "wooden" and expressionless than usual.

"Jotham, you scoundrel!"

"Sir?"

"How long have you been staring there?"

Jotham put on an injured look.

"I aint a starin', sir. I just this minute come to ask if you'd have the new scrubbery sowed down in clover or mixed grass?"

"Mixed grass, stupid! And get out of my sight!"

"Yes, sir, I will!" and Jotham disappeared with extraordinary alertness.

"Jotham!"

Miss Keturah's false curls were just visible above the garden fence.

"Marm?" ejaculated Jotham, dropping half a pint of grass seed in his astonishment.

"Can I depend on you, Jotham, my good man?"

"Guess likely you can marm!"

"Well, then, Jotham, I feel it my duty to speak to your dear master about a conversation I last evening overheard between his daughter, and Latimer, the Lawyer. I was weeding my flower-borders, and—ahem—they were close to my fence, and—and——"

"I understand, marm—you couldn't no ways healp hearin'!"

"That is it, precisely, Jotham. And this morning I was peeping through a crack, and saw her come and take a folded note from under the raspberry bushes Now, you see, I feel quite a—a sisterly interest in Julia, and I really think I ought to warn her excellent papa!"

"Well, marm, p'raps you oughter!" said Jotham.

"But you see, Jotham, if I were to go to the house, folks might gossip and——"

"I see, marm! S'posin' you was to meet the squire somewhere—under the big beech tree this evenin' at eight o'clock, say—I'll tell him you've got somethin' to say to him?"

"O, Jotham, I don't think I could, possibly!"

"Try, marm," said Jotham, soothingly.

"Well, if I must—but, dear me, how my heart palpitates!"

'Take a dose of ginger and brandy," suggested Jotham.

"Good gracious, there's your master coming, and I haven't got on my best gown!"

Away scudded Miss Keturah like the wind, and Jotham resumed his work with matchless equanimity.

"Matters are workin' nicely," he pondered. "I'll get a chance to speak to Miss Julia and Mr. Arthur before night, or I'll know the reason why. I aint a goin' to have the little poppet married to old Job Jefferson, not if I can help it! I know what lovers feel, ever since I swapped sixpences with Nancy, the cook; and if the old squire don't find himself out managed, my name aint Jotham Higgins!"

And Jotham burst into a great laugh, all alone among the guelder-roses and nodding holly hocks.

All day long Julia was busy in her own room, arranging sundry little details in her wardrobe; and when, in the evening, she kissed her father, sitting in his easy chair, with vigilant eyes following her every motion, she lingered as if she would also have implored a blessing.

"Papa," she said softly, "I know I have often been un undutiful daughter to you, but indeed I love you! Will you always remember that?"

"Hey! what's up now?" demanded Mr. Glenn

"Nothing, papa!" sobbed Julia; "only—only I feel nervous and strange to-night, and I think I shall retire early!"

Mr. Glenn looked at his watch after Julia had gone upstairs; it was only seven, and he composed himself to a patient half hour of waiting.

As Julia's soft step fell on the velvet grass of the lane, Jotham Higgins issued forth from a deep mass of shadow, cast by a giant luburnums.

"Miss Julia!"

"Why, Jotham, is that you?"

"I've brought you a note from him I'm just come from him. You'll see he has changed the place of meeting to the old rock, down by Pebble Run."

Julia glanced hurriedly over the note.

"That's strange—but he knows best. Is all right, Jotham?"

"Right as a bell, Miss Julia. The carriage waits for you at the cross roads. Good-bye—and good luck go with you!"

Julia glided away like a shadow. Mr. Glenn, sitting alone in his parlor, thought he heard murmur of voices; but when, to reassure himself, he peeped into the kitchen, Jotham was composedly eating cold pork and potatoes from a blue edged plate; and Nancy, the cook, was making herself a now apron by the light of a tallow candle, just opposite to him.

"Now for it," said old Mr. Glenn to himself. "In just about fifteen minutes the young folks will find that I was one too many for 'em. Job Jefferson ought to be very much obliged to me, I'm sure!"

And he trotted out into the clear June moonlight.

Miss Keturah had got very tired of waiting under the great, old beech-tree. It was decidedly damp there in the cold, chill light of Luna's beams; and, besides, she felt several premonitory symptoms of ague in her face, for which dew and night breezes were not salutary. Her false teeth chattered in her head, and not even reflecting on the coming interview could keep her nose from turning blue.

Suddenly there was a rustling among the branches of the undergrowth, and the old Mr. Glenn bounced abruptly into the clearing. He saw a shawled female figure, and rushed towards it.

"Expecting to meet your lover, eh, Miss? Won't I do as well?" he ejaculated triumphantly, seizing what he imagined to be his daughter's arm!

"Lover!" sqeaked Miss Keturah, undecided whether it was best to fight or faint. Mr. Glenn dropped her arm, as if it had been some noisome reptile.

"Hallo! it's the old maid!" he exclaimed, retreating a step or two in dismay. "What on earth are you doing here?"

"No more an old maid than you are!" said Miss Keturah, tossing her head till the curls quivered again. "And am I not here by your own appointment?"

"Where's my daughter?" uttered Mr. Glenn, staring wildly around him.

"I don't know, or care," sobbed Miss Keturah. "It's a shame, so it is, when you yourself agreed to meet me——"

"I agreed to meet you, my worthy old soul? Are you insane? You are about the last person in the world I care about meeting!"

This was too much. Miss Keturah uttered a shrill shriek, and went into hysterics upon Mr. Glenn's shoulders.

"Don't! What are you doing? Don't, my good creature! How do you expect me to hold you when you struggle so? Good Jupiter! what will become of me!" shouted the desperate old gentleman, suddenly letting Miss Keturah roll like a log to the ground, and fairly taking refuge in ignominious flight.

He rushed straight home, tumbled over Jotham at the door, and never rested until he was locked and double locked into his own room.

About two hours afterward there was a soft little tap at his door.

"Who's there?" he shouted, his hair standing on end with vague horror lest Miss Keturah had come to take possession of him by storm.

"It is I, papa—Julia!"

He opened the door. She stood there, blushing like a sweet pea. her little hand resting on the arm of a tall young man beside her.

"Papa, I have come to tell you that I am married to Arthur Latimer."

"Are you?" said Mr. Glenn, altogether past astonishment. In fact, nothing could surprise him now

"You will forgive our stealing this march on you, sir?" said Arthur, gaily.

I'll forgive anything!" ejaculated the old gentleman, "if you will protect me from that old Harpy next door!"

And he recounted his adventures in a spirit of meekness truly edifying to behold.

The next morning, at breakfast, Jotham reported that Miss Keturah Jones had become disgusted with the neighborhood, and was removing her goods and chattels as fast as a horse and cart could take them away.

Thus were blasted the hopes of two mature individuals—Job Jefferson, Esquire, and Miss Katurah Jones!

"THUS MUCH MAY SUFFICE."—The Rev. Solomon Stoddard, of Northampton, the ancestor of all the Stoddards—and a troop they are of worthy sons of a worthy sire—was accustomed to examine his household every Sunday evening on the sermon of the day, and he required each one to tell him something that had been said in the course of it. One of his habits was to close his discourse with these words: "Thus much may suffice." His old manuscripts, now in possession of the descendants of the family, show this as the frequent close of his sermons. He had in his employ a colored boy, Bill, whose habit of attention was very poor, and his memory worse; indeed he had a "bad memory and a first rate forgettery." He could recall nothing of what he had heard; and his master at length, by way of quickening his "intellex," promised to give him a good whipping if he did not remember something of the discourse on the next Sabbath day. The boy went to church as usual, and went to sleep as usual, and woke up in time to come home with the rest, to be examined on the sermon of which he had not heard a word.

"Well, Bill, what was the text?"

"Dunno, Massa; dunno"

"Well, what was the sermon about? Tell me something."

"Dunno, Massa; dunno."

"Can't you recollect any thing that I said—not a word?"

"Nary word, Massa."

"Then take off your coat, and I'll give you something to help you remember the sermon by next time."

Bill stripped, and the parson took up his cane, and was just about to lay it on the back of the poor nigger, when Bill cried out,

"O yes, Massa; I just now remember something you said!"

"Well, what was it?—out with it, quick!"

"'Thus much may suffice,'" said Bill; and the discomfited parson put off the flogging.

THE following took place at a flag presentation in the Army of the Cumberland, May 1, 1863:

The flag was presented to the Fifteenth Indiana Volunteers (on behalf of the young ladies of Hascall, Indiana) by the Chaplain, and received for the regiment by Gen. G. D. Wagner. The regiment was in line, and the rest of the brigade assembled to witness the ceremony. The General, in the course of his speech, said:

"Tell the young ladies of Hascall that when the war is over their then sanctified gift shall be returned to them, unless torn to shreds by the enemy's bullets."

"An' thin we'll take 'em back the pole!" cried an Irishman in the regiment.

The brigade, officers and men, committed a breach of discipline by laughing immoderately, and Pat received a pass to go to town next day.

LIKES SOLDIER TALK.—The Philadelphia Bulletin rebukes those people who are particularly sanguinary in their wishes concerning the army, speaking from their firesides: "It is curious to see how fond peaceable folks are of brisk military movements. There is nothing a quit, timid sort of a man loves at breakfast as a good hot dispatch: a bayonet charge sends him to his toast with a double relish, and he swallows his last cup of tea with great satisfaction over a pretty cruel return of killed and wounded."

HOUSEHOLD TREASURES.—A treasure of a husband carries the babe.

A treasure of a wife never asks for money.

A treasure of a son has money in the funds.

A treasure of a daughter looks the same as her mother, if anything, a trifle older.

A treasure of a servant runs to the post in less than an hour.

A treasure of a cook is not hysterical whenever there is company to dinner.

A treasure of a babe does not disturb his dear papa in the middle of the night.

WAR SCIENCE.—L'indepd. belge says that a Parisian inventor has offered to the Poles a new sort of fulminant, which will explode after one hour's immersion in water.

CAN any one define the exact width of a narrow escape?

BUSINESS IN FULL BLAST AGAIN.—C. S. Thomas having purchased the interest of his partner W. W. Brownell, has opened the store on his own account and is now prepared to accomodate his old customers.—See Advertisement.

CLOTHING STORE.—We would call the attention of the travelling public to the advertisement in another column of Lockwood & Co., No. 624 Clay street, San Francisco, where can be found some of the finest clothing in the State.

SECRETARY OE STATE.—Gov. Stanford has appointed A. A. H. Tuttle, who has heretofore acted as Deputy, to the position of Secretary of State, vice W. H. Weeks, deceased.

J. L WILLIAMSON, Assistant Assessor, 7th district, arrived in town on Thursday last. He informs us that he has experienced less difficulty in this place than any other, in making assessments for the income tax.

PACIFIC TURNPIKE.—This road from Dutch Flat to Virginia City (N. T.) will be completed about the First of October, at which time the California Stage Company will put on a line of stages to run from Lincoln, Placer county, to Virginia City. This road is located on the Pacific Railroad route.

GREAT DRAFT OF MAINE JOURNALISTS. The conscription has taken from the several newspaper establishments in Maine, Mr. Richardson of the Portland Press; Dr. Dingley, of the Lewiston Journal; Mr. Prescott of the Farmington Chronicle and Mr. Ridgin, of the Oxford Democrat.

CURIOSITIES.—The first white women arriving at Austin, Lander county, were a couple of ladies from Illinois. The Indians flocked around them, and manifested great curiosity to see the "white man's mahala."

COMING BACK.—A telegram to the Alta, dated Placerville, August 11th, says: "The travel to and from Washoe and the adjacent country is becoming equalized. The flow back upon us on this route is steadily increasing.

WAR MATERIAL.—The ship Daring, just arrived from New York, brought one 11 inch gun, 1028 packages of ordnance, and 328 barrels of powder, also a large amount of Government merchandize.

THE San Jose Railroad has been levied upon by the Sheriff of San Francisco, to satisfy judgment against the city and in favor of Richard M. Jessup, in the sum of $86,391 04.

PIKE'S PEAK.—The Denver News says matters are looking up in Colorado Territory. In some lucalities miners are realizing from $10 to $30 per diem to the hand. Georgia, American, Galena, Delaware, Gold Run and French Gulches are said to be paying immensely. Everybody has plenty of money, and such prosperous times were never before known in those diggings.

THE Alta says the resignation of Collector Low takes effect on the first day of September. Willard B. Farwell, Naval Officer, will hold the offie of Collector in the interim, and until Col. James arrives and enters on the discharge on the duties incumbent on him in his new position.

THE Daily Standard says that the city of Virginia (N. T.) is infested with thieves and robbers, and that scarcely a day passes without attempts at robbery and murder.

UTAH TOBACCO.—There lately arrived at Omaha City, Nebraska Territory, for shipment to Now York, ten thousand pounds of tobacco, dried near Salt Lake City.

MISS Virginia Buchanan is to be married in a short time to Harry Beckwith, of the Spanish Claim, Virginia City.

THE EMPRESS EUGENIE DYEING.—A London correspondent writes to his paper: "I hear on excellent authority that the Empress Eugenie has dyed her hair perfectly dark, and that the change is anything but becoming."

THE WAR NEWS of the week indicate that Gen. Meade is making a retrogade movement, to place his army nearer its base of supplies—at the same time covering Washington and the line of the Potomac—while he awaits the arrival of the drafted levies, to swell the army to the desired strength.

The latest dates from Charleston are to the 16th. The bombardment of forts Wagner and Sumter continued then, and it is reported that Monday last, the 17th, had been fixed upon for another combined effort of the land and naval forces to carry the works.

Among the dispatces to the Union are the following respecting the army in Virginia:

New York, August 18th. The Herald has the following, dated Headquarters Army of the Potomac, August 16th: A contraband who deserted from Lee's army yesterday morning and came into our lines, reports that on Wednesday morning August 12th, the whole of Lee's Army, with the exception of A. P. Hill's corps, moved from Culpepper by the Fredericksburg road. He also confirms the stories of the demoralization of Tennessee and North Carolina troops. Those in Hill's corps have openly rebelled and swear they will fight no longer. The Mississippi troops are clamorous to be sent home. The contraband deserter's story of the movements of the rebel troops is fully confirmed by reports from our scouts. On Saturday, August 15th, a large force of rebel artillery and cavalry made their appearance on the south bank of the Rappahannock above Falmouth. Another story is that they crossed at Fredricksburg, during the night, but the report is highly improbable.

News from the front this morning is cheering, inasmuch as it points to the termination of our term of non action. We are momentarily expecting orders to pull up stakes. Heavy firing has been distinctly heard since three o'clock this morning, in a southeasterly direction, apparently in the neighborhood of Banks or United States Ford, or probably as far away as Fredericksburg. The firing is rapid and constant. Large bodies of troops were moving yesterday, and that our advance has come up with the enemy may safely be inferred from the news this morning.

Washington, August 19th. Last evening's Republican announces the greatest activity in the Army, indicating a change of base, and intimates that the policy of the Government is to hold the Army of the Potomac in a strong defensive position, while the war is vigorously prosecuted elsewhere. Quite a number of furloughs have been granted to officers.

DEATH OF WM. H. WEEKS.—William H. Weeks, Secretary of State, died at his rooms in the Union Hotel in Sacramento on Sunday evening last. In the death of this man, the State has lost a faithful and honest officer. The deceased was well known throughout the State, having been chosen one of the Presidential Electors in 1860, and by the Electors, as Messenger to Washington; and on the election of Gov. Stanford, was selected as Secretary of State.

UNION DISTRICT CONVENTION.—The joint convention of Sacramento and Yolo counties, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Judge of this District, assembled at the District Court room in Sacramento city at 12 o'clock, M, on Saturday last. The convention was organized by calling F. A. Park to the chair, and the appointment of G. L. Simmons as Secretary. J. H. McKune was then unanimously nominated—there being no opposing candidate.

UNION NOMINATIONS FOR GRAFTON TOWNSHIP.—At a meeting held at Weyand's Precinct on the 15th of August, for the purpose of nominating two Justices of the Peace, two Constables, one Assessor and one Road Master, the following were nominated:

Assessor—George Hetzel.
Justices—E. Rinehimer.
H. Beal.
Constables—W. Cole.
A. Brownell.
Road Master—J. Lippencott.

KILLED.—A man, known as "Old Mac," was killed on the 10th inst., in the vicinity of the Mountain Spring House, on the Virginia road, by the upsetting of his wagon. He was in the employ of the Fast Freight Company.

VISITING.—Yesterday afternoon, Wilson Flint and I. N. Hoag took passage on the steamer Chrysopolis for the Santa Clara and San Jose valleys, where they intend visiting the rich farms and ranches which there abound, and do their best to prevail on the proprietbrs to take a lively interest in the next State Fair, and send their stock and agricultural productions for exhibition. Messrs Flint and Hoag have been selected for this important duty by the Directors of the State Agricultural Society. Mr. Lowell, also appointed on the same Committee has, we regret to say, met with a severe accident which keeps him at home.—Bee Aug. 15.

Qualifications of an Elector:

Article 2120, section 10.—Every white male citizen of the United States, and every white male citizen of Mexico who shall have elected to become a citizen of the United States under the treaty of peace exchanged and ratified at Queratarо, on the thirtieth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of the State six months next preceeding the election, and the county or district where he claims his vote thirty days, shall be entitled to a vote at all elections which are now or hereafter may be authorized by law.

Article 2121, section 11.—For the purpose of voting, no person shall be deemed to have gained or lost a residence by reason of his presence or absence, while employed in the service of the United States, nor while engaged in the navigation of the waters of this state or of the United States or of the high seas; nor while a student at any seminary of learning; nor while kept at any almshouse, or other asylum, nor while confined in any public prison.

Article 2122, section 12.—No idiot or insane person, or person convicted of any infamous crime, shall be entitled to the privileges of an elector.

Article 2123, section 13.—Absence from this state on business of the state, or of the United States, shall not affect the question of residence of any person.

Article 2136, section 27.—Any person offering to vote may be challenged as unqualified by the inspector, or either of the judges, or by any legal voter, and it shall, in all cases, be the duty of the inspector and of each judge to challenge any person offering to vote whom he shall know or suspect not to be duly qualified as an elector.

Article 2137, section 28.—When any person offering to vote is challenged, it shall be the duty of the board of judges to declare to him the qualifications of an elector.

Proceedings to be observed in conducting Elections:

Act of April 20, 1863, section 35.—As soon as all the votes are read off and counted, a certificate shall be drawn up on each of the papers containing the poll list and tallies, or attached thereto, stating the number of votes each person voted for has received, and designating the office to fill which he was voted for, which number shall be written in words at full length. Each certificate shall be signed by the clerks, the judges, and inspector. One of said certificates, with the poll list, and tally paper to which it is attached, shall be retained by the Inspector, and preserved by him at least six months. The ballots shall be strung on a cord or thread by the inspector during the counting of the ballots, in the order in which they are entered upon the tally list by the clerks, and said ballots, together with the other of said certificates, with the poll list and tally paper to which it is attached, shall be sealed up by the inspector in presence of the judges and clerks, and indorsed "Election Returns," and be directed and delivered or sent by the inspector to the County Clerk of the county in which the election is held, and the said ballots shall be kept for at least six months by said Clerk; and if any person be of the opinion that the vote of any precinct shall not have been correctly counted, he may appear on the day appointed for the Board of Supervisors to open the returns, and demand a recount of the vote of said precinct, and the Board of supesvisors shall proceed to recount the vote of the precinct that is so claimed to have been incorrectly counted.

Article 2131, section 22.—At all elections the polls shall be opened at 8 o'clock in the morning, and shall continue open untill sunset, at which time the judges shall close the polls; provided, that the judges of the election may take a recess of one hour at any time they may think proper during the day, before three o'clock in the afternoon.—[Am. April 26, 1851; R. s. st. 1850, 103.

Article 2132, section 23.—The board of judges, before they commence receiving ballots, shall cause it to be proclaimed aloud at the place of voting that the polls are opened.

Article 2133, section 24.—The voting shall be by ballot. The ballot shall be a paper ticket containing the names of the persons for whom the elector intends to vote, and designating the office to which each person so named is intended by him to be chosen.

Article 2134, section 25.—Whenever any person offers to vote, the inspector shall pronounce his name in an audible voice, and if there be no objection to the qualification of such person as an elector, shall receive his ballot, and in the presence of the other judges put the same, without being opened or examined, into the ballot-box.

Article 2135, section 26.—The name of each elector whose ballot has been thus received, shall be immediately entered by each clerk, in the column of his poll list, headed "names of voters," numbering each name in the additional column, as it is taken down, so that it may be seen at any time whether the two lists agree.

Article 2137, section 31.—If the vote of any person be challenged on the ground that he has been convicted of an infamous crime, or disfranchised by any court of competent jurisdiction, he shall not be required to answer any questions respecting such alleged conviction; and in the absence of any authentical record of such facts, it may be competent for two disinterested witnesses upon oath to prove the same.

Article 3138, section 32.—When the polls are closed, proclamation thereof shall be made at the place of voting, and no votes shall be afterwards received.

Article 2139, section 33.—As soon as the polls are closed on the afternoon of the day of election, the judges shall open the ballot-box and commence counting the votes, and in no case shall the ballot-box be removed from the room in which any election may be held, until all the ballots are counted; the counting of ballots shall in all cases be public. The ballots shall be taken out carefully, one by one, by the inspector or one of the judges, who shall carefully open them, and read aloud the name of each person contained therein, and the office for which every such person is voted for. Each clerk shall write down each office to be filled and the name of each person voted for for such office, and shall keep the number of votes by tallies, as they are read by the inspector or judge. The counting of the votes shall be continued without adjournment until all are counted.

Article 2140, section 34.—If two tickets are found folded together, they shall both be rejected; and if more persons are designated on any ticket for any office than are to be elected to such office, such part of the ticket shall not be counted for any of them; but no ticket shall be lost for want of form, if the board of judges can determine to their satisfaction the person voted for and the office intended.

Article 2141, section 35.—As soon as all the votes are read off and counted, a certificate shall be drawn up on each of the papers containing the poll list and tallies, or attached thereto, stating the number of votes each person voted for has received, and designating the office to fill which he was voted for, which number shall be written in words at full length. Each certificate shall be signed by the clerks, the judges and inspector; one of said certificates, with the poll list and tally paper to which it is attached, shall be retained by the inspector, and preserved by him at least six months. The ballots shal be destroyed by the inspector. The other of said certificates, with the poll list and tally paper to which it is attached, shal be sealed up by the inspector, and indorsed "election returns," and be directed and delivered, or sent by the inspector to the county clerk of the county in which the election is held.—[Statutes of 1850, Woods' Digest, pages 377, 378.

Female Beauty.

Ladies whose complexion is not as clear as they could wish, instead of resorting to those poisonous preparations in the form of Cosmetics, &c., should use Dr. Guysott's Compound of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla. By purifying the blood and enlivening the respiration it gives clearness to the complexion, brightness to the eye and elasticity to the step—

"Leaving that beautiful which was so,
And making that so which was not."

Vexatious eruptions on the face resulting from want of exercise or sluggish circulation of the blood, at once disappear under its influence, leaving a rich bloom of health, that no cosmetic can impart. Ladies who have tried it express themselves surprised and delighted.

BIRTH.

In Washington, Yolo County, 15th inst., the wife of Wm. Norcross of a daughter.

SIERRA VALLEY.—Of this summit valley, lying between the two highest ranges of the Sierra Nevada, and between four and five thousand feet above sea level, the Mountain Messenger says:

"A correspondent writes to us in glowing terms regarding Sierra Valley, which he says, as far as ranching and stock raising is concerned, will compare favorably with other parts of the world. The people of the valley, he tells us, are all becoming wealthy, and have made great advancement socially and morally within the past two years To show the value of the ranching business in the valley, our correspondent instances the product of one ranch (H. Ede's). The owner milks fifty cows, and makes, on an average, one thousand pounds of butter and about two hundred pounds of cheese per month. He sells the butter at an average of fifty cents per pound, and the cheese at twenty-five cents per pound. He calculates to increase his diary stock in another year to one hundred cows, and to increase the net product from that source to one thousand dollars per month, for seven months of the year. Besides this, he calculates to cut about two hundred and fifty tons of hay per year; and this, with the increase of stock, will be worth about eight thousand dollars more, making in all fifteen thousand dollars, twelve thousand of which will be clear profit. our correspondent says that he, himself, recently offered ten thousand dollars for another ranch in the valley, which he could have purchased, with a hay crop, for eight hundred dollars four years ago. The land in that section is now being surveyed by United States officers. The Beckwourth Pass Turnpike will be of incalculable benefit to the people of the valley, and they are hopefully expecting its completion. Beckwourth Valley is in reality only an extension of Sierra Valley.

THE PIONEER STEAMBOATS OF OREGON.—The Dallas (Oregon) Mountaineer has the following:

The well-known steamboat Hassaloe, at one time the finest boat on the Upper Columbia, lies high and dry on the beach just below the town. We understand that she has been allowed to go ashore with a view to breaking her up. The pioneer settlers in the upper country will recollect the Hassaloe as a crack boat in her day, and well do we remember when it was considered a treat to make the trip to the cascades on board this now dilapidated hulk. This is the second of the pioneer boats that now lie high and dry at the Dalles. The little Mary that figured so prominently in the indian war, and which served as a mark for the savages who then roamed up and down the Columbia, is safely anchored on Steamboat point—far removed from the element she used to grace. These two old hulks, insignificant as they may look, played prominent parts in their day, and from their earnings in a great measure was derived the means wherewith to build the noble steamers that have taken their place.

AN INTERESTING REVENUE DECISION. One of the most interesting questions that have yet arisen in reference to the income tax has just been decided by Commissioner Lewis; in a Correspondence with the Assessor of the Fifteenth District of New York. The gist of the decision is that different branches of business are independent of each other, and that a loss by Fire or otherwise, sustained in one does not entitle the party to a deduction in the other.

Thus if A B C had an income of five thousand dollars, of which three thousand was from business and two thousand from the rent of houses, if the latter should be destroyed by fire, causing to him a loss of five thousand dollars over and above all insurance, he would still be liable to taxation on the three thousand dollars received from business. It is also settled that a person meeting with a heavy loss by fire cannot apply the income from the rest of his estate toward making up this loss and deduct from the income of a subsequent year.

GOLD HILL THEATRE SMASHED IN.—On the morning of 11th August, the dump of the Yolo Company caved in, falling with great force upon the Gold Hill Theatre, completely crushing in the back room. This room has been used as a sleeping apartment for the hurdy-gurdy girls, who dance in the establishment at night, and they were in bed at the time. Hearing the noise they all leaped from their beds and rushed, en deshabille, to the front part of the building, just in time to escape a premature burial. The stove, which was almost red hot at the time, was overturned, and ignited some scenery in the room, and a serious fire would have resulted but for the exertions of the citizens, who succeeded in extinguishing the flames. The damage is estimated at $500. The building will be immediately repaired.—Vir. City Bull.

THE revenue of the San Francisco Schools, the present year is $191,339 55, an excess of $36,121 69 over last year.

THE

Knight's Landing News.

THE GREAT NEGRO.—Lowry, a Pennsylvania State Senator, at a league meeting in Philadelphia recently, came out with his creed:

"This war is for the African and his race. The six hundred colored men who have recently fallen, have elevated the race. For all I know, the Napoleon of this war may be tied up in a black package. [Laughter.] We have no evidence of his being done up in a white one, as yet. When this war was no bigger than my hand, I said that if any negro would bring me his disloyal master's head, I would give him one hundred and sixty acres of his master s plantation."

A jockey Lord met his old college tutor at a great horse fair. "Ah, doctor," exclaimed his lordship, "what brings you here, among these high bred cattle? Do you think you can distinguish a horse from an ass?" "My Lord," replied the tutor, "I soon perceived you among these horses."

IT is said, jokingly, in illustration of the social odds and ends of which the militia is formed in the neighborhood of London, that the captain averred it was dangerous to make the rear rank take close order, for fear it should pick the pockets of the front rank.

NOT DRAFTED.—In Providence last week, one young man being told that he was drafted, rushed to a recruiting office and enlisted in order to secure the bounty. He was not a little chagrined to learn, when it was too late, that a joke had been played upon him—that he had not been drafted.

RATHER SECESH.—The San Francisco Journal says: We are informed by a gentleman of reliability, that John Spell, one of the guards of San Quinten, has been in the habit of drinking toasts to the health and success of Jeff Davis, expressing himself in favor of the southern confederacy and abusing the administration, etc.

MR GRAVE, a French physician, proposes to destroy the taste of intensely bitter medicines by mixing chloroform with them in certain proportions. He claims that the taste and odor, even of asafœtida, can be annihilated.

It is proposed to pass in Massachusetts a statute of limitation against the early marriage of army widows. Several who have gone off in new bonds of wedlock, are perplexed by hearing that their patriot husbands "still live"

"BUT if I place my money in the saving bank," inquired one of the newly arrived, "when can I draw it out again?" "Oh," responded his Hibernian friend, "sure an' if you put it in to day you can draw it out again to morrow by giving a fortnight's notice."

THERE is a lady at Peckham so modest that she refuses to wear a watch in her bosom, because it has hands.

"KATY, have you laid the tablecloth and the plates, yet?" "An' sure I have, mem—everything but the eggs; an' isn't that Biddy's work?"

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutricious blood, and nutricious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digenstion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter' Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the brokendown frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wanted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthful invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A Word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances & derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlightens the oppressed mental powers, as well as stregthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

Beware of Counterfeits. Purchase only of reliable dealers, Sold everywhere.

Dr. Guysott's Improved

EXTRACT OF

Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla

Will Cure without Fail

Scrofula or King's Evil, Cancers, Tumors, Eruptions of the skin, Erysipelas, Chronic Sore Eyes, Ringworm or Tetter, Scald Head, Rheumatism, Pains in the Bones and Joints, Old Sores and Ulcers Salt Rhrum, Diseases of the Kidneys, Loss of Appetite, Disease arising from the use of Mercury, Pain in the Side and Shoulder, General Debility, Dropsy, Jaundice, Lumbago, &c.

Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla put up in the largest sized bottles, contains more of the Honduras Sarsaparilla than any other prepation extant, which is combined with the extract of Yellow Dock, the extract of Wild Cherry and the Balsam of Fir, thus making the remedy more thoroughly efficient that any other Sarsaparilla before the public. At the same time it is perfectly free from ALL mineral poisons, whish can not be said of any other of the Sarsaparilla compounds. The Invalid should beware of poisons. Mercury, Iron, Quinine, Potash, Iodine, Sulphur, Arsenic, and many other mineral and metalic poisons enter into and form the active basis of most of the sarsaparilla and panaceas of the day. Guysott's Compound Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla does not contain a particle of the substances; as any one can ascertain by applying the necessary tests.

These poisons may occasionally remove disease, but they so vitiate the blood and impregnate the whole system with their baneful effects, that the first cold or the first attack of disease, prostrates the patient's strength and subjects him or her to the most excrutiating torture, and renders another cure almost impossible and hopeless. Let all poisonous sarsaparilla preparations alone, and use Guysott's Improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, which is thoroughly efficacious, perfectly harmless and purely vegetable. All kinds of diseases yield to its genial influence

Caution.--Beware of counterfeits. All genuine Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has the name of JOHN D. PARK, Present Proprietor, Cincinnati, O., on the label.

Remember this fact when buying, all without the name of "JOHN D. PARK, Gincinnati, Ohio," on the label are counterfeit.

PATENT COMBINED GANG PLOW, SEED SOWER AND HARROW.

We have purchased the right this great labor-saving implement for the State of California, and are having a number made in the Atlantic States for this market.

With this combined Machine one man, with six horses, can do the work of three twelve inch plows, besides sowing the grain, and harrowing it in as he proceeds, thus finishing his work in the best manner possible, without being obliged to travel over the plowed ground. This Machine was very thoroughly tested by the farmers of Santa Clara county, where some eighty are now in use; also, by the Messrs. Hensel & Kethley, of this county, and Messrs Hoppin Brothers, near Cacheville, Yolo county. It is made very substantial; is not liable to get out of order, and being on large truck wheels, the Gang Plow, Seed Rower and Harrow, runs lighter than three plows would, cutting the same amount of land.

We are desirous of having these plows generally introduced throughout the State, and are therefore prepared to offer very favorable inducements to farmers and the trade. The following are some of the names of our customers who have used them for the past two seasons:

Sacramento county—Hensel & Kethley.
